Political Advice Is Irrelevant; Petition on P.O. to Be Pushed

Tuesday noon the local radio station broadcast the following statement from the mayor and board of directors of Hope's city-manager government:

"The mayor and city board of directors went on record Monday night at their regular meeting as favoring the construction of a new federal building in Hope. They suggested that a more central location nearer the business district would be more desirable; however, they would welcome the building in the proposed location if any alternate site can not be found. A letter to this effect was sent to Congressman Oren Harris."

The Star was bypassed on that release—and so we went to press without a line on it in yesterday's edition. A Hope woman tipped us off on a radio repeat about 2:15 p.m. Tuesday, but it was too late, the forms being on their way to the press.

I'll let you figure out the devious public relations policy of the city-manager government. But I'll tell you this much: When the official family felt they were threatened last fall in the backwash of the defeat of the proposed federal-aid paving district they asked me to sit in with them for a frank appraisal of the situation—and I did so. Their return courtesy is to bypass this newspaper on an announcement to the public they are supposed to represent.

Something's eating them. Could it be they are mad because of the scuttling of the federal-aid paving project?

In any event, their declaration in favor of the proposed $500,000 new post office has no bearing on the petition now being circulated against it. The petition is an opinion-sounding paper from the people to give Congressman Oren Harris an accurate picture of local sentiment—and this interference with the survey by the politicians of City Hall is outrageous.

The city-manager crowd have no mandate from the people to speak on anything but municipal affairs. The man awaiting the mandate is Congressman Harris—and the voice he is waiting on is that of the people, not local politicians.

In normal times a $500,000 federal project would be welcome in any community. It would represent taxes collected from all over the nation and spent here—a monument to civic pride.

But these are not normal times—they are dangerous times. The federal debt has risen 42 billion dollars since the end of World War II. So what you get in a federal building today is not a gift of tax dollars but another nail in the coffin of public debt—a monument not to local pride but a monument to national disgrace.

City Hall knows that. It is zealous enough in watching over local debt, but shrugs off the national debt that can leave us defenseless in time of war, devalue our currency, and bankrupt the Social Security System.

You know the wise guy's explanation as to why we should grab while the grabbing is good.

Monica Lewis put it on a phonograph record. What she sang was:

"If you Don't, Somebody Else Will!"
But before you start dancing I suggest you look up the Petition and sign it.

Cuban Sale Is Defended by British

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—The British government says it won't stop the sale of $11.2 million worth of British buses and spare parts to Cuba because they aren't strategic goods.

The Board of Trade, Britain's equivalent of the U.S. Commerce Department, shrugged off U.S. criticism of a deal that will help restore the Castro regime's crippled public transportation system.

"Manufacturers are at liberty to sell as and when they find the opportunity," said a Board of Trade spokesman. "There has never been a boycott on the country by Britain. That is the situation and we don't see any reason to depart from this at present. We have quite an extensive trade with Cuba."

Under a five-year credit arrangement, Leyland Motors Ltd. will sell 400 buses and $1.1 million worth of spare parts to Cuba. The company said it expects an order for 1,000 additional buses.

"You would look damned silly going to war in a bus," said Leyland's managing director, Donald Stokes, today. "Anyway, we haven't any war with Cuba and we buy sugar from them."

Stokes said the company in April will begin shipping about 100 buses a month by East German freighters. He said his company had turned to Communist shipping because of the U.S. blacklist on ships that carry cargo to Cuba.

A spokesman for Leyland indicated the manufacturer would be happy to accept further orders from Havana.

Commenting on the sale at a news conference in Washington, State Department press officer Robert McCloskey said: "It certainly does not help our efforts to isolate the Cuban regime and thereby weaken its economy."

Cuba's bus transportation system has been badly hurt because it can't import spare parts from the United States for its many U.S.-built vehicles. Cuba has been gradually replacing buses with vehicles made in Communist bloc countries.

To enforce its embargo, the United States has banned from its ports foreign ships carrying cargo to Cuba. Under 1962 legislation, the President also is empowered to withhold foreign aid from any nation trading with Cuba.

Sen. Engle Sees Press, Will Run

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. Clair Engle, in his first newspaper interview since undergoing brain surgery last August, says his health is "fair to mid-dlin" and he is in the 1964 Senate race.

Engle, 52, a Democrat from Red Bluff, Calif., announced Monday night in a television film that he will run for reelection in November.

The announcement drew requests from California Democrats for medical evidence that he is well enough to serve another term.

Spaniard Is New Suspect in Murder

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Spanish-born Manola Gallardo, unable to speak English, may have fatally stabbed multimillionaire William A. Bartholomae after mistakenly believing he had harmed her sister, Orange County Dist. Atty. Kenneth Williams said.

The district attorney's office dropped murder charges Tuesday against Bartholomae's sister-in-law, Carmen, 25, and booked her sister, Manola, 32, on suspicion of murder.

Bartholomae, 70, a yachtsman who made an estimated $11 million in ranching, oil and mining, died Sunday morning in the kitchen of his $500,000 mansion on Newport Bay.

The district attorney said Bartholomae died in a "real choice battle" in which he was clawed and stabbed to death.

Williams said a lie detector test given Mrs. Bartholomae and further police investigation Tuesday led to her release and the arrest of her sister.

The district attorney said investigation gave this picture of the fatal stabbing:

Cloudy and Wet Is U.S. Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cloudy and wet weather covered wide areas of the nation today but there were no severe storms or cold as January's spell of fairly mild temperatures continued.

Fair and dry weather was reported in most of the North-east and in many sections of the Far West.

Light snow fell across areas in Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa and New England, with flurries reported in the upper Great Lakes region. More rain splashed sections of the Southeast, with fairly heavy amounts in some areas.

Rain mixed with snow was indicated in the Ohio Valley, with rain in prospect from the eastern Gulf Coast states northward to the Ohio Valley.

Johnson Surprises by Message Cutting U.S. Budget to $97.9 Bil.

Letters on Star's P.O. Position

EDITOR'S NOTE — Wide distribution through the Associated Press of The Star's editorial attacking municipal federal aid and the new Post office project for Hope has produced the following letters to The Editor.

Editor The Star: Herewith $3. Kindly forward your paper for time this amount will pay.
H. A. SHARKEY
January 6, 1964
P. O. Box 22
Eaton, Ohio

Ed Note: Abrupt, but apparently this Ohioan is with us. He attached clipping of AP story about Hope in the Dayton (Ohio) Daily News.

Editor The Star: I appreciate your editorial of Jan. 3 in regards to Post Office building. I'll sign your petition.
JOHN L. CRANFORD
January 4, 1964
409 N. Elm St.
Hope, Ark.

Editor The Star: Our congratulations to you in taking a stand against the needless waste in federal government spending.

May the good solid core of citizens in Hope again refuse to gobble from the federal piggy bank as they refused in the street paving come-on.

We trust that their action will serve as a guide-line to other cities large and small.

MR. & MRS. T. K. SHAVER
January 4, 1964
1746 Birmingham
St. Paul, Minn.

Editor The Star: I just read in the paper (Northwest Arkansas Times) of your stand on the new Post Office building in your city. I appreciate what you are doing and wish that more people took that attitude. Foolish spending of money in this country (and foreign aid) will ruin us. I must thank you for your efforts.

Editor The Star: I notice the picture and writeup on the Post Office matter in the Arkansas Gazette Saturday, Jan. 4, and certainly think you have a splendid outlook in connection with holding back unnecessary expense in governmental affairs.

I am sure that there are many people across the country who admire your stand and wish they had others, including themselves, that could express their opinion in their local papers—if the papers would print it.

I have owned property in Marion county, Arkansas, for a great many years and had high hopes for the future of Arkansas.

Campaign to Follow JFK Program

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—For better or worse, President Johnson ties himself today to his predecessor's political formula of trying to weld liberal, labor and minority support into a winning combination.

In a State of the Union message calling for congressional action on a wide range of social welfare legislation, the President links himself to the programs of the late John F. Kennedy while adding some of his own.

This is designed to demonstrate to the citizens of the large industrial states plagued by slums, poverty and unemployment that the President is vitally concerned with doing something about their problems. It is not coincidental that these states will cast heavy electoral votes in November.

At the same time, Johnson has displayed an intention to keep a foot in the middle of the political road by spotlighting executive efforts to hold down federal spending. This is regarded as sure-fire in its appeal to the more conservative South and Midwest.

As he starts the first critical months of 1964, Johnson obviously has a reservoir of political good will in Congress and the country.

Nobody has yet had time to get really angry with him. Democrats of all shades of opinion know that he is going to be their presidential nominee and naturally are gravitating toward him.

Republicans are having difficulty in drawing a bead on Johnson at this point. The head of opposition steam they had built up against Kennedy blew out with the late president's assassination and their boilers are left cold.

Mrs. Laura Turner, 78, Dies Here

Mrs. Laura Turner, 78, died in a local hospital Tuesday. She has been a resident of Hope for the past 6 years. Formerly of Chillicothe, Texas and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Dares Russia to Meet Cut in Uranium

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson told Congress today he is cutting the budget below current levels, to $97.9 billion. And he disclosed he will slash output of weapon-making uranium by 25 per cent—a move he challenged the Soviets to match.

Reading an election year State of the Union message at a joint session of Congress, Johnson also outlined a billion-dollar program of "unconditional war in poverty in America."

He asked the Congress to enact the long-pending $11-billion tax cut bill by Feb. 1.

"The new budget clearly allows it," he said. "Our taxpayers surely deserve it. Our economy strongly demands it."

The President put the billion-dollar price tag on his antipov-erty package at an unprecedented session with newsmen at the White House rose garden in advance of his appearance in the dignitary-packed House chamber.

Tight security measures were in force for Johnson's visit to the Capitol. Uniformed police were stationed atop the capitol and the adjoining congressional off buildings.

The Johnson message was unusually significant because it was his first and set the tone for his administration, outlining his specific policy ideas for the first time since he became President seven weeks ago on the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Teen-Agers Help March of Dimes

"Helping to provide new hope for the handicapped is one of the best ways for a teenager to prove he stands for juvenile decency, instead of juvenile delinquency," 17-year old Sara Bagley and 17-year old Al Weisenberger, both seniors in Hope High School, declared today.

Sara and Al made the statement in accepting appointments as co-chairmen of the Hempstead County Teen-Age Program for the 1964 March of Dimes. They will supervise the activities of Hempstead County Teenagers in fund-raising activities during the January campaign.

"We teenagers often see schoolmates who suffer from some kind of crippling disease," they said. "This gives us a great incentive to work for a program like the March of Dimes which is doing something to help improve the future of birth defect and arthritis victims."

Sara and Al cited the March of Dimes financed Birth Defects Special Treatment Center at the University of Arkansas Medical Center, Little Rock and the March of Dimes financed Arthritis Evaluation Clinic, St. Joseph's Hospital, Hot Springs.

In addition, they said, research supported by the March of Dimes is making progress in the search for means to prevent many birth defect and arthritis problems.

Of special interest to teenagers, Sara and Al stated, is the Health Career Awards program under which local National Foundation chapters are offering scholarships for college work in medicine, nursing, physical and occupational therapy, and medical social work.

"It's a real incentive to young people to enter the important and satisfying health field," they said.

"Teenagers have the desire to help the helpless and the enthusiasm to raise the money to finance it," Sara and Al explained. "We hope we'll have a real turn-out of volunteers for TAP in Hempstead County to put the January March of Dimes over the top."

15 Physical Fitness Club Members

The Hope Physical Fitness Club was re-organized Tuesday night with 15 members present. It was decided that the club will meet each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in the old gym at the north end of the high school building.

Organized calisthenics will begin promptly at 7:00 p.m. followed by basketball, volleyball, weight-lifting, isometrics, and lighter exercises.

It was decided to charge a fee of $3 for joining the club, and it is expected that this charge will take care of the total cost of the program which is expected to run until about May 1.

The next meeting is set for Thursday night, January 9 and the public is invited to come out and participate.

2 Local Boys to Appear in Opera

Magnolia—Jimmy Barentine son of C. E. Barentine of 402 S. Bonner, Hope, and Buddy Herman, son of Henry Herman of Rt. 1, Fulton, will sing bass in the chorus of Bizet's "Garmen," the first opera to be presented in Magnolia.

The colorful opera classic will be presented in full costume and sung in English at the Magnolia Junior High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 15, by the Shreveport Symphony Opera Repertory Company.

The 35-member Southern State College concert choir, of which Barentine and Herman are members, will serve as the opera chorus and their director, Kermit Breen, assistant professor of voice at the college, will sing the leading role of Don Jose.

Hope Wins Pair From Nashville

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Bobcats extended their record last night to 6-1 by scrapping Nashville with the overwhelming score of 62-20, while the Lady Cats ousted their opposition 42-38.

The boys' game was actually very little of a contest. Coach Mitchell had sent in the second team by the second quarter, and the rout still continued. This is the Cats' second win over the Scrappers this season.

Head gunner for Hope was Johnny Honeycutt with 18 points, Bill Rhinehardt had 13, Dan Jones 9, and Mike Allen 8.

Hope's Lady Cats trailed in the early part of their match, but a strong second period put them out ahead of Nashville, and they finished in the lead.

Shirley Smith was high with 17 points, Phyllis Martin had 13, and Annette Hatfield had 9.

Saturday night the big league starts with Hope facing their first conference bout at Malvern. The Leopards are the team to beat in 4AA this year, since they are defending champs, and are returning several starters. Last year Malvern edged the Cats out of District top spot by a very slim 4 points. Hope will be gunning for them.

Hope's court will be idle until next Tuesday when the Junior and Senior Girls and the "B" Boys face Emmet.

Saratoga Tourney Monday

Saratoga's annual Invitational basketball tournament starts Monday night, January 13 and will continue all week with the finals being played on Saturday night.

Monday night games will pit Blevins and Bradley boys at 6:30; Blevins and Bradley girls at 7:45 and Saratoga and Laneburg boys at 9 p.m.

Wednesday nights games will be: Spring Hill and Willisville boys at 6:30; Saratoga and Genoa Central girls at 7:45 and Mineral Springs versus Hope "B" team at 9 p.m. No tournament games will be played on Tuesday night.

Other teams entered are Nashville, Fouke, Bright Star and Foreman. Quarterfinals will be played Thursday and Friday nights; semifinals will be played Saturday morning and the finals Saturday night.

A's Removal Big Question for Baseball

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — For the next eight days, until owners of American League teams meet in New York, the question of whether Kansas City or Louisville has a baseball team named the Athletics will be subject to conjecture. And words.

Owner Charles O. Finley, who signed a two-year contract Monday to shift the A's franchise to Louisville, says he is confident the owners "will approve my move when they have had an opportunity to analyze the true facts."

A majority of owners have indicated otherwise.

"He isn't going to Louisville," Chicago White Sox Owner Arthur Allyn said Tuesday. "Mr. Finley's action is absolutely inexcusable. He has an obligation to Kansas City and I'm going to see that he lives up to it."

It was reported Finley might charge the other owners with restraint of trade if they thwart his move.

Finley called the report "another perfect example of a manufactured lie," and added:

"If the owners veto the move I will face that when it happens. But I am very confident nothing like that will occur."

Kansas City officials, who failed in weeks of negotiations to reach agreement on a Municipal Stadium lease, maintained what Mayor Irlus W. Davis is called "discreet silence."

Davis and City Manager Carleton Sharpe had requested American League assistance before Finley announced his planned move. They'll attend the league meeting in New York Jan. 16.

Finley was asked in Louisville if he had any new offers to sell the club he bought in 1960 from the estate of Arnold Johnson.

"I haven't had any new offers," Finley said. "It would not make any difference if I did. The club is not for sale."

NCAA and Amateurs Feuding

By WILL CRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The white flag of peace flies over head but they're storing up bitterness and weapons of war in the cellar at the NCAA's national convention.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, nearing the end of its annual meeting, made it patently clear today that it has not relented a bit in its fight with the Amateur Athletic Union over control of the country's amateur athletics.

"I wouldn't be surprised if some strong stand is not taken on the floor of the convention today," said Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA. "After all, this is simply a truce, not a surrender."

"We would rather die than give up in our battle for a proper voice in both domestic and international sports. You might say, we are just saving our fire until next Nov. 1 — after the Tokyo Olympics."

Little fire was saved Tuesday when representatives of the NCAA's U.S. Track and Field Federation, U.S. Gymnastics Federation and U.S. Handball Association leveled fresh blasts at the longtime controlling organization of amateur sports.

"All hell is going to bust out after the Olympics," warned Charles A. (Chick) Werner, president of the rival track group. "There must be a showdown. It is important that the difficulties not continue for another Olympic year."

Werner criticized government intervention and said: "We're doing the best we can despite being interfered with by the president of the United States and General MacArthur."

It was Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who at the insistence of the late President Kennedy, stepped in early last year to arbitrate a dispute which threatened to wreck the U.S. showing in the Olympics.

An agreement was reached whereby the two groups would patch up differences until after the big show in Tokyo.

The NCAA insists that it should have the right to sanction meets involving its athletes. This is a right that traditionally has been confined in open meets to the AAU, the national body recognized by the international federations.

made that announcement Monday.

The Cubs have been first in the majors to complete their signing the last four years.

More Fights Lined Up for Patterson

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Boxing promoters planning the next fight for former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson have drawn up a list headed by three high-ranked contenders — Eddie Machen, Zora Folley and Henry Cooper.

Tom and Al Bolan, who promoted Patterson's two fights against heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, and Edwin Ahlquist, former adviser of retired Ingemar Johansson, met Tuesday to plan Patterson's next fight. Patterson stopped Italy's Sante Amonti in the eighth round Monday night.

"We know that Machen would welcome a fight in Goteborg, where he was stopped by Johansson in the first round of a 1958 fight," said Ahlquist. "However, we have to await the outcome of the Henry Cooper-Brian London fight."

The two will fight Feb. 24 for the vacant European heavyweight title. London is out as an opponent for Patterson, who knocked him out in 1959. Cooper was ranked seventh in the latest World Boxing Association ratings. Machen was No. 4 and Folley No. 6.

Frisco Gives Celtics a Walloping

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics couldn't get out of California fast enough Tuesday night after San Francisco handed the National Basketball Association champs a third straight West Coast setback.

The Warriors, who dropped a 111-101 decision to the Celtics Friday night as Bill Russell & Co. opened their four-game California swing, got even with a 92-89 victory that sliced the Eastern Division kingpins' margin over second-place Cincinnati to two games.

Cincinnati whipped Philadelphia 130-110 for its ninth victory in 11 starts and St. Louis beat Baltimore 123-113 in other games.

The Celtics, who dropped back-to-back decisions to Los Angeles over the weekend, couldn't keep up with Wilt Chamberlain Tuesday. Wilt hit for 35 points in the low-scoring battle and out-rebounded Russell 32-28 besides spearheading a tight San Francisco defense.

Now Howard Outdraws Yogi Berra

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It seems only a short time ago when Yogi Berra was teaching Elston Howard, a converted outfielder, how to position himself behind the plate. This year, the pupil will be taking down more money in salary than his teacher.

When Howard eventually gets around to signing his 1964 New York Yankee contract, it will be for approximately $60,000. Berra, who has given up the mask and mitt to concentrate all his energies on managing the Yankees, already has signed for a reported $40,000.

Yogi's highest salary was $57,500. While Howard declined to reveal his 1963 salary it is believed he drew down $50,000. He earned every penny of it as attested by his winning the American League's Most Valuable Player award.

"I expect to get a pretty good raise," said Ellie today. "That MVP award ought to be worth something."

"I don't expect any trouble. I've never had any before. The Yankees always have treated me fairly."

Howard said he expects to sit down with Ralph Houk, the Yankee general manager, some time next week. Houk returns from his vacation next Sunday.

Howard was in town representing a sporting goods outfit at the Sports Show here. Part of his duty is autographing catching mitts for customers.

ready married." As a married man myself I can subscribe to the partial accuracy of this observation. But it reflects a defeatist attitude. Certainly it is true that on the whole married men are more attractive than bachelors. But they weren't born more attractive. They were made more attractive by the civilizing influence of the women they married.

A wise girl realizes that this is the real challenge of matrimony — to take a mediocre, scrubby, forlorn bachelor and build him into the better man only she can help him become.

It is bad psychology for a girl to let a marital prospect suspect that she is looking for a walk to the altar chiefly in order to escape the long daily trek to her job in the office. No man likes to feel that his main function in life is to buy pork chops and pincurls for a Lazy Jane.

What are some examples of good feminine psychology?

Well, first of all, don't overdo that "woman mystery" act, girls. Don't be too unapproachable. Let your fellow know pretty quickly that you're fond of him.

Remember that while no man wants to be smothered, they all hanker to be mothered a bit.

As the average employer is too busy to spend his entire day patting an employee on the back, the employee looks forward to getting at home the petting he doesn't get at the office.

He wants from a potential wife the security, encouragement and approval he doesn't receive from his boss on the job.

Bachelors are wild things, and must be tamed with care.

The way to win a bachelor is to wine him and dine him and treat him with kindness and give him the feeling that life with you will be better and safer and — above all — more comfortable, than life is without you.

If you do this, he'll eat out of your hand, never miss his lost freedom, let you mold him as you will. Then in some future Leap Year other single girls in his office will look at your husband and say:

"Gee, what chance have I got? All the best men are already married."

About 500,000 children are victims of accidental poisoning annually, Public Health Service records reveal.

requiring action by Congress — were aimed at problems ranging from the depths of poverty to the height of the moon.

For most taxpayers, the biggest surprise probably lay in the budget disclosures. At $97.9 billion, the first Johnson spending plan would be $500 million smaller than the latest estimate of spending under Kennedy's final, record - setting budget.

Johnson described his budget as "efficient, honest and frugal." And he said it will maintain "the full strength of our defenses" while providing "the most federal support in history for education, for health, for retraining the unemployed, and for helping the economically and physically handicapped."

Endorsing some two dozen proposals in about 2,900 words the chief executive urged Congress to bring his programs "to a fair and final vote." He called for the strongest civil rights bill in 100 years, enactment of a massive tax cut by Feb. 1, new steps toward disarmament and selective increases in overtime pay rates.

Other Johnson programs — many inherited from Kennedy — included broader minimum wage coverage, hospital insurance for the aged, an end to discriminatory immigration quotas, a bigger housing program, and a determined effort — preferably in cooperation with the Soviet Union — to put a man on the moon by 1970.

Prosperity at home and peace in the world were the broad goals cited by the President, who sought balance.

"We intend to bury no one — and we do not intend to be buried. We can fight, if we must, as we have fought before — but we pray we will never have to fight again," the President said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson personally unwraps for an election year Congress today a legislative program expected to be keyed to civil rights and tax reduction but proposing broadened aid for the poor and the elderly.

In his first State of the Union message, to be televised and broadcast nationally, Johnson is expected to back to the hilt the late President John F. Kennedy's domestic programs which the first session of the 88th Congress considered for a year with minimum results.

In the international area it was a foregone conclusion the President would appeal for unity behind efforts to ease East-West tensions and to deal with such trouble spots as Viet Nam.

As a chief executive who has publicized his intention of extracting full value in government services from the taxpayer's dollar, Johnson was expected to reveal whether he has been successful in holding the new spending budget within $100 billion.

Congressional leaders who have conferred with him already have marked the House-passed $11 billion tax reduction bill for priority action in the Senate. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., obviously reflected presidential opinion when he told a news conference Tuesday every week that passes without final action on the measure threatens to reduce its expected beneficial impact on the economy.

House leaders committed themselves to all-out efforts to get action on a comprehensive civil rights bill. Once passed by that body the measure would have to await Senate action on taxes before encountering an expected Southern filibuster in the Senate.

The remainder of the social welfare program that Johnson planned to lay down would have to be fitted into the schedule around these two major proposals. Leaders believed there would be time for action in a shortened election-year session on legislation to provide health care for the elderly, financed through Social Security.

As part of a crusade to eliminate poverty and the joblessness that often goes with it, Johnson was represented as proposing a broad program of specialized education, job retraining and other unemployment aids.

He had indicated previously he would call for an expanded housing program on the farms as well as in the cities.

BIG SISTER WON'T LET GO

By Helen Erskine Worden

Dear Helen: My mother and father (to a lesser degree) were rather possessive. I being the youngest of five children. Mother died when I was 20 and this sister, 14 years older than I, assumed charge, insisting that I come live with her. Looking back, I can see how spineless I was, yet could I be otherwise when all the decisions were made for me?

Until my marriage four years later I was, figuratively speaking, held prisoner by my sister and my feelings. I can't begin to describe all the little ways in which she was possessive—even after my marriage. We moved three times to different cities to get out of from under her bossiness but each time she followed.

Now in her early 60s, she continues to try to reach me

Former Chief of Staff Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. John Bragdon, 70, veteran of both World Wars and a former deputy chief of Army Engineers, died Tuesday after a brief illness.

Cloudy and turning colder late tonight and Thursday with rain southeast portion early Thursday. Decreasing winds Thursday. Low tonight 35 to 45. High Thursday in the 40s.

ARKANSAS: Mostly cloudy through Thursday. Occasional light rain tonight and turning colder in west. Low 25 north-west to 45 southeast. Thursday cloudy to partly cloudy and colder with high 35 to 45.

LOUISIANA: Mostly cloudy with scattered light showers or occasional light rain, possible thundershowers tonight. Thursday considerable cloudiness and colder. Low tonight 36 to 42. High Thursday mostly in upper 40s.

through my children — sending them little gifts every so often as a reminder that she is alone and missing me. I feel like a heel yet, if I give her an inch, she'll take an A.

I look upon my children as given to me by God to train for perhaps 20 years then turned loose to lead their own lives. When I try to explain this to my sister she says, "Oh, you'll feel differently as they grow older." The other members of my family hesitate to interfere in my behalf, looking upon this as a sisterly quarrel.

To me, it is far more than that. How can I combat her dreadful possessiveness? —Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Having gone through an experience similar to yours with a relative, I appreciate your mingled feelings of guilt and a desperate determination to lead your own life. The guilt is not so much guilt as love of the relative in question and concern for her happiness. Once you see this, the problem resolves itself into what would make your sister happy.

True happiness, as you have already discovered, lies in freedom to express self. Therefore you can make your sister happy by helping her to express herself; in other words, develop latent talent. We all have some one thing we enjoy doing and therefore do well, even if it is only baking bread.

Find out what your sister does well, aside from bossing you, and encourage her to do it by introducing her to others interested in the same subject. It will take patience, time and perhaps money—if tools or a given course are needed, but once Sister is launched on a career of her own, you will be really free. My leaflet, "Women at Work" might be of additional help. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Helen: Two months ago

a fine young man proposed marriage to me. I turned him down because he dresses like a hillbilly—also he is nine years younger than me. Now I find I cannot forget him. Did I make a mistake in saying No? —Troubled

Dear Troubled: The odds are always against a woman who marries a man younger than herself. So, for that reason you were right but to dismiss him because he looks like a hillbilly is something else again. Many of the men who helped build America came out of the hills of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

Dear Helen: Two wild girls recently moved to our town and started chasing my boy friend. Just for the kick he went to the home of one. That hurt, so I tried to forget him by dating other boys. Every time I did, I thought of him. Now we are going together again. He tells me he loves me and wishes we could marry. The other girl says he told her the same thing. Should I believe him? —Sick with love

Dear Sick: He's a smoothie. Don't take him too seriously!

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A novel about BENEDICT ARNOLD by PHILIP VAIL
© 1964 by Philip Vail XVII

At first Benedict was bewildered and hurt. But he reacted angrily when crowds gathered on the lawn of the house, and his threat of using armed force to disperse the throngs brought Joseph Reed, president of the Executive Council of Pennsylvania hurrying to see him.

Benedict waved his visitor to a hand-rubbed chair of French walnut. "Apparently you encountered no difficulty with the mob besieging me."

"Mob, General?" Reed raised an eyebrow. "Those people are my constituents."

"Then I dare say you've explained to them that you were the author of a portion of my proclamation of martial law." Benedict's voice was dry.

"If I may say so, General Arnold, they're annoyed because you've chosen to live in this house." Reed looked at the tapestries hanging from the walls, the drapes of rich damask and the imported furniture.

A white line formed around Benedict's mouth. "I won't tolerate such an insult!"

"You seem to forget that Sir William Howe lived here," Reed replied curtly.

Benedict's anger vanished, and he laughed heartily. "Mr. Reed, I've fought the Redcoats too often to be afraid that I'll become contaminated because I sleep in a bed once occupied by Sir William."

"The whole country is aware of your past exploits," Reed said impatiently. "What concerns Philadelphia is your present conduct."

It was difficult to refrain from striking the man with his walking stick, but Benedict resisted the temptation and drew himself haughtily erect. There was a chance that Reed had learned of the half-interest he had just bought in a privateer, and it would not be easy to explain his most recent maneuver the renting of a number of army quartermaster wagons to carry merchandise to the vessel. The deal was not illegal. Anyone, even a general, was entitled to earn money on the side if he could.

"I'm responsible to General Washington for my conduct, Mr. Reed."

"You're responsible to the people of the United States, sir, and Mr. Timothy Matlack has a serious grievance."

"Who is Timothy Matlack?"

"The secretary of the Executive Council of Pennsylvania, sir." Reed had risen, too, and his tone was biting. "His young son enlisted in the state militia to fight the enemy, but was forced to perform a menial service by one of your personal aides—a major, I believe."

"Major David Franks?"

"That's the fellow. Day before yesterday he sent young Matlack out to fetch a barber."

The charge was so absurd that Benedict could not regard it seriously. "The young man is a soldier. He is required to obey the orders of a superior."

"Mr. Matlack will neither forgive nor forget," Reed picked up his velvet braided bicorne.

And you, General, are sowing the seeds of discontent in a city that loves liberty and despises those who have sought favors from the British. It does your name no good when men like Edward Shippen and Elisha Magruder boast that you've accepted invitations to dine at their homes next week."

Benedict was rapidly becoming convinced that the head of the Executive Council of Pennsylvania was demented. "Have you forgotten that Shippen's brother is the Commander-in-Chief's surgeon general, and that Magruder lost a son in the battle of Long Island?"

"Both Clinton and Howe dined with Magruder—"

"Very wise of them and of him. He owns more wagons and mule teams than anyone else in the state. By entertaining the enemy commanders, he prevented the confiscation of his property. They paid him in gold, which is worth far more than the flimsy paper money the Congress is printing."

"Perhaps," Reed said angrily, "you'll find some reason to justify the fact that the younger officers of the British staff flocked to Shippen's house every evening. Major Henry St. George, the headquarters commandant, and Captain John Andre, Clinton's adjutant, were virtually members of the family."

Razorbacks Whip Texas in Opener

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —Warren Vogel and Orval Cook teamed up Tuesday night and sent Arkansas Razorbacks galloping to a 58-53 Southwest Conference basketball victory over Texas.

The Longhorns held the lead for most of the game, with Arkansas earning a tie at 38-38 with 11:35 to go in the first half before falling behind again.

Then Cook netted the first of a one-and-one free throw situation to give Arkansas a 50-49 lead with 1:25 to play.

The Texas made it 51-50 a moment later.

Jim Magness boomed in a long jumper to give Arkansas the lead again, then the Razorbacks came up with the ball in a scramble and the Longhorns fouled Cook, who pumped in a pair of free throws to put the lead out of reach.

Vogel copped scoring honors for Arkansas with 17 points and Joe Fisher hit 17 for Texas. It was Arkansas' first SWC victory this year.

Howie Young Suspended in Hockey

CHICAGO (AP) — Howie Young maintains he is being railroaded.

Young, Chicago Black Hawk defenseman who has earned the title of hockey's bad boy, was suspended indefinitely Tuesday by Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

Campbell's action pended an investigation into Young's conduct during a game in Toronto last Saturday.

Stafford Smythe, president of the Toronto Maple Leafs, filed an official protest with the league. Smythe said Young used intemperate language and spat while serving out a major and minor penalty for holding and elbowing.

Young, a hot-headed 26-year-old who has become legend in the league, was incensed when he learned of the suspension.

"I think it's silly," he said. "What kind of a setup is this when a club executive can go to the head of the league and get you suspended? They're

Harding and Tech on Top in AIC Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas Tech and Harding College climbed onto the top rung in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference standings after games Tuesday night — joining Ouachita — but Hendrix College didn't make the grade.

Tech, Harding and Ouachita all are 5-1 in AIC play. Hendrix took a licking from State Teachers at Conway and both teams came out of the battle with 4-2 records.

Tech trimmed Arkansas A&M 76-61 at Russellville, Harding downed Southern State 84-69 at Searcy. State Teachers beat Hendrix 73-71 and Ouachita cut through East Texas Baptist 87-78 in a non-conference game at Arkadelphia.

State Teachers hit 19 points while the Warriors managed only five in one second-half spurt and the Bears coasted in under the wire. Tom Davis canned 23 points for State Teachers. Freddy White hit 18 for Hendrix.

Tech squeezed scoring spurts around the intermission and was unreachable after that.

Larry Lafeyers, Bill Boley and Bob Ratchford were in the first one-before-halftime—and they gave the Wonder Boys a 27-21 lead at the middle rest. Lafeyers and Chester Barner were in the spurt just after half-time, pushing Tech's lead to 33-21, and the Wonder Boys had no trouble after that.

Barner led Tech with 17 points but A&M's Carroll Richards was top scorer for the game with 25.

Harding took an early lead and never let go to top Southern State. Vernon Rogers crammed in 31 points and Charles Boaz added 23 for the Bisons.

Bill Askew paced the Muleriders with 21.

David Kossover's blistering 21-point second half pulled Ouachita from a 39-35 halftime deficit to victory over ETBC. Teammate Leon Clements raked off 18 rebounds and put in 21 points for Ouachita. Johnny Yokum, a Fort Smith product, netted 20 for the Texas Baptists.

Young did not deny swearing while in the penalty box. "I was hot a 'em (official sand Leafs). I got a bad call on the ice."

Tommy Ivan, general manager of the Black Hawks, said he was surprised that Young had been suspended indefinitely. "I cannot make any comment," said Ivan. "I was on the other side of the ice and I don't know what went on in the penalty box."
